

Part 4: Military Voices Reply About Government Interaction with UFOs

February 27, 2006 - On January 20-21, 2006, I posted at Earthfiles and broadcast on Coast to Coast AM radio an update with U. S. Navy physicist, Bruce Maccabee, about his discussions with a USAF geophysicist referred to as "Hawk." See two-part 012106 Earthfiles. I also reported more about former New Mexico State Representative Andrew Kissner's (Dona Ana County, Las Cruces) investigations of V-2 rocket research at White Sands Proving Ground in 1947 when aerial discs interfered with launches. See "Peculiar Phenomenon" Real X-Files series beginning with 121905 Earthfiles.

Since these several reports, I have received more than a hundred e-mails from people who have either firsthand military and/or intelligence backgrounds, or are relatives of people who have such backgrounds. Many have asked that their identity remain anonymous. I feel it is valuable to share some of the e-mails and hope other Earthfiles viewers and radio listeners will contact me with additional information that complements, or goes beyond, what I am posting in this series of Earthfiles military voices.

Military Voices Respond to Earthfiles and Radio Reports

15) "Antigravity Device" At WSMR in Early 1970s?

"I was stationed at White Sands Missile Range in 1972 to 1974 and worked on various projects, including the Viking Mars Lander, SkyLab and the Mirage project (declassified in the mid-1990s). I worked mostly at Building 1510.

"The range commander at the time (a civilian) was Gordon Dunaway. He is an amazing man, VERY intelligent, and he once told me that there were things he knew that kept him awake at night and he wished he had not known.

"Another high level official who worked there at the time was George Fugate. Later, Gordon retired and Dave Novlan took his place. Many of our downrange projects involved strange craft (blue glowing propulsion systems) that were clearly antigravity devices. But I was not at a clearance level then to be privy to that fact. It was just obvious to those of us who provided support on the flight tests.

"I was not at a high enough clearance to be directly involved with the test craft projects, but I did support them at Building 1510 where we provided impact prediction and other related technical support. Also, the Mirage project involved long-range targeting lasers which were capable of shooting down boosters from Green River, Utah, downrange to WSMR. That was in the early to mid-1970s, long before 'Star Wars' was supposedly initiated."

16) UFO Beams Minuteman Missile Silo At Ellsworth AFB in Mid-1960s

"At Ellsworth AFB, the 44 Strat. Missile Wing, Minuteman 1 and then 2 had three squadrons of 50 Minuteman each. The Launch Control Facilities were 65 feet underground, concrete and steel, shock isolated. The 50 missiles in each squadron were 3 to 5 miles away. Security and support services topside. No one, not even maintenance crews, could get into a site quicker than the security troops upstairs could get there, winter or summer.

"Re: UFOs, we had a spring and summer of almost daily sightings. The most interesting of which occurred when the individual site alarms were set off and we dispatched the topside 'Strike Teams' to investigate. Normally, the alarms were set off by a cow or deer rubbing up against the fence.

"But this particular evening, I was at Echo, the Squadron Command Post, when the topside crew called me and told me that there's been a UFO sighting by a strike team sent to a site. There was the stream of light down to the top of the missile silo and a hovering UFO.

"I talked to the Strike Team leader later on because I had reports to make. The whole point of all this is that the crew commander sent a Sitrep to SAC HQ and some Colonel came over the radio and said these immortal words: 'Son, what do you see?' After a long silence, the crew commander was forced to say: 'Sir, we're 65 feet underground and 4 miles away, so I don't see anything.'

"The Colonel immediately dropped off the net. This was initially funny, but upon thinking about it, we all realized that this particular HQ guy did not even know how a Minuteman squadron was deployed. The Team Leader later told me that the UFO did not really hurry, but a couple of minutes after they arrived, it shot straight up and out of sight at an unbelievable speed - no sound, but a mild hum.

"There were men in black around for about two months that summer, deployed around in choppers, ready to quickly get a look at the things. I never saw a summary of their sightings."

17) UFOs Attacked 'Invisible-Painted' USAF Plane Near Bermuda, 1950s

"When my father was in the U. S. Air Force in the 1950s, he became a high-ranking officer and he had clearances that only a very few would be privy to. He told me a story about what happened back in the 1950s and what he had witnessed and was involved in. He could not share this with anyone because he knew that the top guys in government would assassinate him if any of this would come out.

"He then told me that the U. S. Air Force had a secret installation base somewhere near Bermuda. It was underground. It was dismantled after a UFO incident. They were experimenting on a wrecked UFO and discovered a way to create a certain type of paint which cannot be seen with the naked eye. The natural color of this type of paint is silver in a more balanced nature, but when it is energized through the friction of wind, it can be controlled to make it look like it's invisible.

"They then put this special paint on a plane (can't say what type of plane in this e-mail). The pilot took off into the air and only a few feet from the ground, it cannot be seen with the naked eye.

"Several UFOs appeared out of nowhere and apparently shot our 'invisible-painted' plane down. The pilot was immediately killed. It became apparent to the USAF that these things were watching the guys at the secret installation in Bermuda.

"The USAF board at the time decided then it was an act of war against these, whoever was flying the UFOs. It became clear with realization that these so-called Unidentified Flying Objects were also using the invisible-type technology and probably still are. This technology was highly classified because it was reverse engineering from UFO technology."
