CHILE: TERRIFYING CHUPACABRAS ATTACK IN VINA DEL MAR

Creature appeared in the Recreo Sector
by Carla Olivares

Margarita Ugalde's family underwent an experience worthy of a horror movie in the early hours of Thursday morning in the Recreo sector of Vina del Mar after having a face-to-face encounter with the legendary and feared Chupacabras.

According to the woman's story, the event took place at around 4 in the morning when all were asleep and the powerful noise made by the strange animal shook them out of their slumber.

"An animal walked over the roof - it was as though it had come in flying and suddenly landed there. It sounded strong and dragged its wings, walking quickly and making a thundering noise, as though it were very heavy. It's just like the last time. The same happened years ago - we heard the same noises on the roof," explained Margarita Ugalde.

The family's chickens, kept in the backyard, were nervous and making loud crowing sounds, as though something was happening to them. One by one, the birds went quiet. Seven out of ten chickens were killed.

"I went to the backyard and I saw it. It was like a large bird, standing about a meter, with the bearing of a dwarf. It has feathers, wings and left footprints like those of a goat. It was looking for food, and I think it must've been hungry," she explained.

When the subject of the Chupacabras first emerged into public awareness, Margarita Ugalde experienced a similar situation - the same noises on the roof and the killings of animals. In that occasion, they were among those who experienced the greatest number of losses.

The woman is afraid. She is terrified by this experience. However, she feels sad about her hens, which she had raised from chicks. The birds present one or two small perforations, some on the neck, others on the wings or legs, but the similarity they share is that they are completely dry, without a drop of blood. The family decided to call Carabineros (Chilean State Police) to inspect the site in case there was something to be found.

"They told us it was that (the Chupacabras) and that they had never seen anything like it. They were overwhelmed as well," said the woman.

When the strange animal passed over the roof and reached the backyard, it broke the henhouse door and extracted the birds one by one, for a total of seven. When he was surprised by the homeowner, the Chupacabras took off, flying toward the hills."

May 25, 2007 Sumampa, Argentina - Beginning in 2002, there has been a wave of animal mutilations in Argentina. Authorities estimate there have been more than 3000 cases. Now again this April to May 2007, there have been cattle mutilation reports from Argentina and new chupacabras reports from Chile.

Specialists from Argentina's federal INTA agency (similar to USDA's Food Safety Inspection Service) are inspecting a mutilated cow in the La Pampa province in late June 2002. More than 3,000 mutilated cows, horses and other farm animals have been reported to local authorities in seven provinces. Image © 2002 by Rio Negro Online, Argentina.

This month I received another Argentina cattle mutilation report from investigator Guillermo D. Gimenez with a photo from El Porrón near the Saladillo and Dulce Rivers. The translation below was provided by Scott Corrales, Director of the Institute of Hispanic Ufology and editor of Inexplicata in Bradford, Pennsylvania. Scott has been translating Spanish newspaper articles about UFO and often associated unusual animal deaths since the wave of mutilations began in Argentina and Chile.

El Porrón is a small, rural village a little over 31 miles from Sumampa, Argentina.

"Cattle Mutilations in Argentina Cause Alarm

Translation by Scott Corrales, Inexplicata

"In El Porrón, Department of Mitre, five heads of cattle turned up mutilated, causing concern among the residents of this location 50 kilometers (31 miles) distant from the city of Sumampa. The mutilated animals include four heifers and one calf, who were missing their tongues udders, eyes and tails.

Photograph of one of the El Porron mutilated cattle provided by Argentina animal mutilation investigator, Guillermo D. Gimenez.

"They were found some three hundred meters (186 miles) from the home of farmer Julio Farias, who explained that 'it has been a week since we found the animals, and they haven't shown any signs of decomposition. Birds of prey are only now starting to approach the location.' Another notable condition is that no traces of blood were found at the site, or traces of having struggled against an attack. These animals were mutilated.

"It should be noted with the Dulce River having reached its flood stage, these fields were completely flooded and covered in mud after the water level went down. If there had been any attack, footprints should have been left behind. This is the first time that such a strange event has occurred and local residents cannot find an answer to events like this, which are not a regular occurrence here."

Recently I talked with Scott Corrales about the Argentine government's effort in July 2002 to explain away all the increasing cattle mutilations in half a dozen provinces by an official press release that said the perpetrators of all the dead animals were "red-nosed mice ... whose nutritional habits had changed to eating cattle." Even veterinarians there laughed at the government's explanation as preposterous. The veterinarians knew they had seen excisions on animals that showed signs of high heat as if cauterized and no red-nosed mice could do that!

Interview:

Scott Corrales, Director, Institute of Hispanic Ufology and Editor, Explicata, (M. A. Spanish Literature, Rutgers Univ.) Bradford, Pennsylvania: "There are a number of print and electronic sources that have appeared in Argentina, which have not been afraid to convey information about mutilations, even after the government accused them of fear mongering after the 2002 wave of cattle mutilations.

WHEN THE ARGENTINA GOVERNMENT TROTTED OUT THE RED-SNOUTED MOUSE AS THE EXPLANATION?!

That's correct. They figured, 'Look, we've already given you the answer to this mystery. If you insist on suggesting there is something beyond this, you're creating a panic and you could be liable.

SO, PEOPLE HAVE BEEN AFRAID TO REPORT MUTILATIONS ... EVEN WITH THE FACT THAT MORE THAN 3,000 CASES HAVE BEEN REPORTED OVER THE LAST FIVE YEARS?

Absolutely! Many of these farmers, we're talking about very small land owners here. Sometimes you are talking about huge ranches, but the concept of insuring your herd – not an issue. Most of these people lose the animals and they have lost livelihood. They figure, 'Let's not get ourselves involved in government trouble and add to our misery.'

But in this case from the Nuevo Diario Web, in El Porron – a town in Mitre Province – a cause for concern among the residents of this location 50 kilometers distant from the city of Sumampa.

The victims in this case involved 4 heifers and 1 calf and this has occurred in many other cases. The cattle were missing tongues, udders, eyes and tails. The dead animals were found 300 meters from the home of (984 feet) from farmer Julio Farias who explained, 'it has been a week since we found the animals and they have not shown any signs of decomposition. Birds of prey are only now starting to approach the location.' (Predators staying away) has been a common factor throughout Argentina and Chile.

Part of the article mentions that the Dulce River, which runs through that area, has been at its flood stage and as the flood waters have receded, a lot of mud and loam have been left in its wake in sufficient quantities so you should be able to see any kind of prints/tracks by anyone who tried to approach the animals. This has not been the case.

SO WE HAVE ANOTHER ANIMAL MUTILATION INCIDENT WHERE WE HAVE FIVE ANIMALS THAT ARE MISSING THEIR TONGUES, UDDERS, TAILS AND EYES AND THERE IS NO BLOOD ON THE BODIES OR AROUND THE BODIES AND NO SIGNS OF TRACKS, EVEN IN WET SOIL.

That is correct.

"Winged Chupacabras" in Chile

Original drawing © 2005 by Madelyne Tolentino on September 12, 1995, in Puerto Rico, of a creature that walked in front of her house at a time when bloodless puncture attacks of farm animals were occurring.

A Puerto Rico dog attacked by the chupacabras entity, which left bloodless holes in its belly.

Every two years, we seem to get a resurgence of these cases. I think it was back in 2003 or 2004 we had those cases in Chile, not Argentina, involving the winged simian creatures that attacked a farmer in Chile.

Perhaps the most impressive of these cases involving this particular type of mutilating-creature associated with mutilations occurred in Chile when a university professor heard noises coming from the courtyard of her apartment building at 1:30 am. When she went to look, she sees, 'An immense man 2 meters tall (6.5 feet) with shoulder blades split as if it had wings.'

The following day, interestingly enough, she found a dead dog with puncture marks in its neck in the courtyard. So that entity was clearly exsanguinations with something in that location.

THIS IS A BIGGER HUMANOID FORM WITH WINGS, WHICH IS YET AGAIN DIFFERENT FROM THE SMALLER BAT-SIZE WITH WINGS THAT WERE REPORTED IN PUERTO RICO AND WOULD SEEM TO HAVE BEEN REPORTED IN APRIL 2007 WITH THE NEWSPAPERS REPORTING, 'THE CHUPACABRAS RETURNS TO CHILE.'

This is correct. The chupacabras cases - there is a seasonality to them. Do they come out of hibernation? Are we talking about real creatures? Physical creatures? Is that the time they can actually slip into our reality and do whatever activities they have to carry out?

Thinking back to the first chupacabras wave in Puerto Rico (1995), the cases involving sightings of strange creatures always seemed to begin in April. And usually peter out say August or September, except in that first time around of 1995, those creatures that were seen at first over the summer were never reported again. And then in August 1995, you started getting the traditional chupacabras with the spines down the back.

AND THAT'S THE ONE THAT STANDS AND WALKS AND CAN GO DOWN TO FOUR LEGS AND SPRING, WHICH IS DIFFERENT FROM THE BLACK BAT-LIKE WHATEVER IT IS.

Absolutely correct.

WHEN YOU THINK ABOUT THE TIME LINE FROM 1995 TO 2007 AND REPORTS OF TWO KINDS OF CHUPCABRAS ATTACKS THAT MAKE PUNCTURE HOLES THAT DO NOT BLEED IN A WIDE VARIETY OF ANIMALS AND PARALLEL THAT ON ANOTHER TRACK WITH GENERALLY LARGE ANIMALS LIKE COWS, HORSES, SHEEP AND GOATS BEING SUBJECTED TO THE CLASSIC ANIMAL MUTIILATION OF THE EAR, EYE, TONGUE, JAW FLESH, GENITALS AND RECTUM TISSUE REMOVED WITHOUT BLOOD OR TRACKS.

Why A Focus On Argentina and Chile?

WHY DO YOU THINK THERE HAS BEEN A FOCUS OF THOSE TWO PHENOMENA SPECIFICALLY IN ARGENTINA AND CHILE?

That's a very good question and I guess would have to do with Argentina and Chile have been focuses of strange phenomena going back at least until the 1950s. Lets say these are, as many have suggested, some kind of extraterrestrial force.

IN ARGENTINA, THERE ARE BASICALLY 6 PROVINCES WHERE THERE HAS BEEN THE FOCUS OF THE ANIMAL MUTILATIONS IIN ARGENTINA. ARE THOSE 6 PROVINCES WHERE ALL OF THE CATTLE IS RAISED IN ARGENTINA?

Most things seem to be reported in La Pampa and Rio Negro and as you start going from the Buenos Aires area on down into Patagonia. That's the region where you get most of your cases.

If you go back to cases translated by an excellent correspondent in Santa Rosa, Argentina (Mr. Chavez), the city of Santa Rosa and that entire area for 50 to 75 miles around is one of the very strange parts of the world that seems to attract any kind of weirdness to it. They have UFO cases; they have cases where small private planes can't find their way back to the local airport because they report the terrain beneath them has changed completely. You have your chupacabras cases, you have the cattle mutilation cases back in 2002, cases involving witchcraft, cases involving ritual magic. You have so much stuff in that one particular area.

Back in 2002, it became a litany – if it was not Santa Rosa it was General Acha where there is a particular stretch of road that seems to be the place where people report everything from UFO sightings to strange creature sightings.

Do Other Intelligences Use Earth's Magnetic Fields

COULD THERE BE A RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELDS OF THIS PLANET - THAT SOME CAN COLLAPSE AT POINTS AND IF THERE ARE COLLAPSES IN CERTAIN GEOGRAPIC AREAS BECAUSE OF GEOGRAPHIC ANOMALIES, MAYBE IT ALLOWS PARALLEL TIME, PARALLEL UNIVERSE, SOMETHING ELSE IS ALLOWED TO COME IN WHERE MAGNETIC FIELDS ARE NOT STABLE?

If you look at the map of mutilations back in 2002, a lot of the cases seemed to be occurring in almost a straight line. Perhaps they were following some kind of fault, as you just suggested, where there was a weakening of some kind of energy or a ley line of some sort. It was very interesting. The animal mutilations all seemed to be lined up.

Phenomenon of Mutilated Animals Placed in Straight Lines

RIGHT, AND THAT LINING UP OF DEAD ANIMALS HAS OCCURRED IN THE UNITED STATES AS WELL. I HAVE DOCUMENTED A VERY IMPORTANT CASE IN HOPE, ARKANSAS BACK IN 1989 IN WHICH 5 PREGNANT COWS WERE ALL LINED UP AND MUTILATED.

Highest Chupacabras Strangeness

Atacama desert of northern Chile famous for strange creature sightings, aerial lights and unusual animal deaths.

WHEN YOU THINK ABOUT CHUPACABRAS IN CHILE, WHAT IS THE STRANGEST CASE YOU REMEMBER TRANSLATING.

In the month of May 2003, six witnesses – 5 boys and their uncle – were treated to the amazing sight of very small imp-like creatures. By imp-like, I mean like elves. They were described as having dark grey skin, oval heads, and long pointed ears. And these little creatures were involved in attacking a flock of lambs on their property. As the creatures attacked the lambs, they were described as laughing grotesquely. One of the creatures punched a lamb until it fell to the ground. This is something that had not been seen previously in any incidents involving strange creatures and farm animals.

What I found stranger still in this report was that the six onlookers were said to be in a state of stupor throughout the event, unable to react, unable to do anything about it, just helpless onlookers as their animals were being attacked by these strange creatures.

Also in Chile, there were chupacabras attacks and sightings and mutilations. In some instances, you had school children on their way back home who reported seeing 'an animal' jump off a rooftop at them and confront them and block their path.

The interesting thing in this particular close encounter was that the chupacabras entity with glowing eyes was hovering off the ground after it jumped off the roof. It seemed to be hovering a number of centimeters off the ground."

Chile - Chupacabras Attacks Began in 2000

By Scott Corrales, Editor, Inexplicata

In late April 2000, reports from Tucapel and Huepil. Farmers discuss a creature called "the bird" as being responsible. Strange luminous phenomena reported.

April 20 2000 (el Mercurio de Chile) – Reports received from Calama in No. Chile regarding deaths of 135 animals, goats, sheep chicken and rabbits. Authorities believe wild dogs are to blame.

April 21 2000 – Carabineros, the Chilean state police, are at a loss to explain the deaths. 60 agents comb the banks of the Loa River for 3 hours. Reports of "something" with strange howls begin.

April 29 2000 – Farmworker Jorge Pino sees a strange creature at 8pm under full moonlight. Describes it as 1.50 metres, like a big monkey, clawed arms, enormous fangs, and wings. A mastiff is sent to attack it and returns with a bloody neck.

May 4, 2000 – 35 farm birds slain in Pucon, northern Chile

May 5, 2000 – A former Carabinero officer reports seeing "a giant bat causing depredations" in Angol, Malleco Province, Chile.

May 5, 2000 – Prof. Liliana Romero hears noise in urban building courtyard (Concepcion, Chile) at 1:30 am. Sees "immense man, 2 meters tall, shoulderblades split as though it had wings" – finds a dead dog with puncture marks in its neck the following day.

June 9, 2000 – Pablo Aguilera Radio Show receives call from witness who claims "bat-like hairy creature destroyed their car." Owner allegedly was offered new car by authorities if he kept quiet.

June 11, 2000 – Press conference. Creature is described as a kind of ape or mandrill with human features and very large yes.

June 14, 2000 – Story begins to circulate about "Chupacabras hatchery" in the desert of northern Chile, town of Maria Elena.

June 29, 2000 – EFE news agency circulates story about U.S scientist removing creatures captured in northern Chilean desert.

July 14, 2000 – Two women near Chuqui, see a creature "resembling a dog, but larger, long grey hair, immense slanted yellow eyes"

July 31, 2000 – Students returning home from school at 7 pm see animal on rooftops. Large yellow eyes, dense black grey hair,

1.50 m tall. Creature jumped off roof and blocked their path.

Between April and July 2000, 1580 animals were slain in Chile (including 40 stray dogs killed by the Carabineros as possible culprits).

January 6, 2001 – Estrella de Calama newspaper reports that farmers are being offered money in exchange for silence by a mysterious govt agency.

February 2003 – Strange bided repted in Rosario de la Frontera on the Andean border between Argentina and Chile.

February 2003 – Hairy biped reported in the Rosario municipal dump, terrorizes a number of witnesses.

May 23, 2003, 6:30 pm. 6 witnesses (5 boys and their uncle) see small, impish creatures (dark grey skin, oval head, long pointed ears), laughing grotesquely and proceeding to attack a flock of lambs. One creature punched a lamb until it fell to the ground. Humans were reportedly “in a stupor” throughout this event.

July 23, 2003 – Two boys in Calama report creature with glossy black skin, clean and hairless, wings, shaking a tree."
